On Saturday, 27 September 2014, heritage train operator “Heritage Express” will be running a special steam-hauled train, The Southern Highlander, from Sydney to Bowral (via Campbelltown) and then on to Robertson (and return). This train will be hauled by the iconic 3642 which was built in 1926 at Clyde Engineering in Australia. The comfortable heritage carriages will provide passengers a feel for what it was like in the days of steam.

We have been able to secure 200 seats aboard this train from Bowral to Robertson and return. So why not join the steam train at Bowral and enjoy a special round-trip to Robertson! The kids will love it...and the not so young too! Tickets are available online for those who wish to take the additional return trip to Robertson where they can stay for just over 2 hours and enjoy the many attractions – Adults $25, Seniors $20, Child $10.

For those not travelling by train you can still experience the nostalgia and excitement of steam by visiting Robertson where the steam train will remain for about 2 hours giving an opportunity for sightseers to view an iconic old steam locomotive in a rural town setting while awaiting its passengers’ return to Bowral. Sightseers can also view the arrival and departure of this train from the heritage-listed station and spacious adjoining grounds. Kids of all ages will love it! But that’s not all.
